Hi, I'm Moria, a gaming and technology enthusiast.
It first started at the army, when I tested all sorts of communication devices, and a few years later when I bought my first gaming console.
Now, gaming is a big part of my life, be it on console, PC or mobile.

I have basic background at tech (office, work programs like SAP at the hospital, home use). I started QA course at Gal Matalon's college, I have high motivation, self-learning ability and desire to join the tech and gaming world. I'm a perfectionist and a logical and methodical thinker.
